It is with great pleasure that we introduce the International Journal of Sustainability in Research (IJSR), a platform dedicated to advancing knowledge and innovation in the field of sustainability. As the global community faces unprecedented environmental, social, and economic challenges, the need for rigorous, interdisciplinary research has never been more critical.

IJSR serves as a conduit for scholars, practitioners, and policymakers to share groundbreaking research, case studies, and theoretical perspectives that contribute to sustainable solutions. Our mission is to foster dialogue and collaboration across disciplines, ensuring that research findings translate into actionable strategies for a more sustainable future.

This journal encompasses a wide array of topics, including but not limited to climate change adaptation, sustainable development, green technologies, circular economy practices, and social sustainability. By integrating scientific inquiry with real-world applications, IJSR seeks to bridge the gap between theory and practice.

We extend our gratitude to the authors, reviewers, and editorial board members whose dedication and expertise ensure the quality and impact of the journal. We hope that IJSR will inspire meaningful contributions to sustainability research and serve as a valuable resource for the global academic and professional communities.

We look forward to the continued exploration and dissemination of knowledge that will shape a more sustainable and resilient world.

Happy Reading
